

Het Huis van Bosch

Besides the famous masters Vincent van Gogh and Rembrandt, medieval painter Jheronimus Bosch now has his own house: Het Huis van Bosch.

Jheronimus Bosch grew up in the building 'De Kleine Winst' on the market square of 's Hertogenbosch. The centuries-old building has been transformed into a pearl of culture by the city of 's Hertogenbosch and the Jheronimus Bosch Art Center. Visitors are welcome to experience the history of the city, discover the life of the painter and his family and admire the beautiful authentic building.

Bruns was responsible for creating the cultural visitor experience with light, image and sound. A mix of old building styles and new multimedia techniques takes the visitor back in history, bringing the life of Jheronimus Bosch to life. The right parties were brought together to develop the content and technical execution of the experience. This way, the Jheronimus Bosch Art Center was completely relieved of the organisation of the project.

Het Huis van Bosch shows eight centuries of preserved architecture and meticulous restoration carried out with a great sense of history and sustainability.
